Babson Discusses Utilities

(Exclusive to The NEWS)

DURING the past few days I asked many investment bankers:—"In view of the business and market uncertainties, what are the safest stocks to hold?" The general answer was that the stocks of the operating utility companies offer the best combination of safety and income.

Total kilowatt hour output of the utilities will decline with general business, but this decline will be from industrial customers. As many electric companies are now short of generating capacity, and cannot take on many new residential customers, this should be a blessing in disguise. Residential customers are much more profitable than large industrial customers. Therefore, by switching customers, the total output could decline without a decline in profits.

Electric companies have very few labor troubles. In the case of water power companies, the labor expense is only 20%, compared with 80% in the printing industry. The labor expense for the entire electrical industry is low—equalled only by the chemical industry. Therefore, it has little to fear from the much-talked-of "fourth round" of wage increases.

Real Estate's Burden Too Heavy, Says Long

Hints New Tax Sources To Be Sought

"Real estate is unquestionably bearing a heavier tax burden than it should and we should think in terms of getting more people to contribute to the cost of government," Henry F. Long, State Tax Commissioner, told the First Baptist Men's Class at a dinner meeting on Tuesday evening.

Commissioner Long's remark was made during a discussion of the subject of taxation in general and the problems facing the state of Massachusetts at the present. He was introduced by Herbert O. Anderson, president of the class, as one who is considered throughout the country as an outstanding tax authority, yet, a public official whose office is the most democratic at the State House and always open to anyone.

Also introduced were Representative Hollis M. Gott and Town Treasurer J. Wilbert Anderson, as well as former Tax Collector Edward Bailey.

Following dinner, served by Mr. and Mrs. Gardner Goss, Harold Magnuson, vice-president, announced future speakers and Carl (Continued on Page Two)

A traffic officer will be assigned to duty at Park ave., near the Heights standpipe, during the hours when children are going to and from school, Chief of Police Archie F. Bullock notified Richard F. Brown, secretary of the Arlington Heights Improvement Association, on Wednesday.

The decision was made after a check of the number of school children crossing this heavily-travelled street, especially in the morning. The association had written the police chief requesting that police protection be provided.

Tuesday evening, the matter was brought up at a meeting of the Brackett School PTA. At that time a committee of two was appointed to confer with the police department head on the matter.

Sinclair Heads Arlington Effort

The 1949 March of Dimes campaign opened today with the most intensive fund-raising drive in Arlington in 11 years.

William Sinclair, campaign chairman of the Arlington chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, said it would be the "most crucial" in the history of the organization. The campaign will continue through this month.

In explaining the reason for the importance of this year's campaign, Chairman Sinclair said:

"Last summer the nation suffered one of the most devastating polio epidemics in its history, with approximately 26,000 cases. Never (Continued on Page Ten)

'49 Tax Burden 'Staggering'

Arlingtonians' Share of Truman Budget Set at $13,910,753

Arlington's share of the proposed cost of running the federal government for the next year—based on President Truman's budget which was submitted to Congress on Monday—will be $13,910,753, according to the Massachusetts Federation of Taxpayers.

"This is only part of the tremendous tax burden that Massachusetts' citizens must carry this coming year," Norman MacDonald, Federation executive director, said this week.

"When you add to this record peacetime federal budget the staggering increases of from $50,000,000 to $100,000,000 contemplated for our State budget and the inevitable jump in the cost of local government, the tax figure is almost unbelievable."

Taxpayers of Massachusetts will be called upon to pay $1,495,830,000 in direct and hidden taxes as their share of the cost of the $41,858,000,000 budget proposed by President Truman for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1949 and ending June 30, 1950.

Estimates of the effect of the Federal spending program on taxpayers of Massachusetts were revealed also by the Research Bureau of the Massachusetts State Chamber of Commerce.

The average cost of federal government to each taxpayer in Massachusetts, based upon the President's proposed budget, will be approximately $644.00. The per capita tax on every man, woman and child of the Commonwealth, in accordance with the last state census of 1945, will be $332.91. (The Massachusetts Federation of Taxpayers sets the latter figure at $295.)

President Truman's budget was submitted to Congress on Monday. Its spending requests will now be studied by appropriations committees of the House and Senate for their approval or revision preparatory to final action by the whole Congress.

People Should Wake Up
"These figures," MacDonald said, "should serve to awaken the people to the necessity of economy in government spending. This proposed budget of $41.9 billion is more than four and one-half times the amount spent by the federal government in 1940 when we were preparing for war. It is equal to one-fifth the total national income."

"This extraordinary burden on Massachusetts' taxpayers — and everyone is a taxpayer whether he owns a house, rents an apartment, operates a business or works for someone else—is reflected in the (Continued on Page Two)

Taxes

Everberg led a community sing, with Frank Locke at the piano. Sees Gradual Revolution "Whether we realize it or not, we're going through some kind of revolution," Commissioner Long said at the outset of his talk. "For many years the needs of our country were small and the increase in wealth met these needs. But, as additional services were gradually taken over by the government, taxes became necessary. The expansion in the educational field and in the care of the aged is an example. As time went on many groups of people felt that the expansion of government activities was desirable. Don't think that taxes come on you suddenly; the process has been gradual; government has no money and the cost of its services must be paid for. All the costs of government are really expenditures which the people themselves have put in our government structure. The Commonwealth has nothing; it relies on its cities and towns for its strength." The speaker suggested that it might be well to slow down, and to think of having more contribute to the cost of government, rather than less. He explained that many services had been developed from an emotional urge — "because it's good" — but that, in the last analysis these services must be paid for. Quoting from a college professor, Commissioner Long said it was often the case of "A feeling awfully sorry for B and wanting C to do something about it." He continued: "We have an entirely different viewpoint today than was the case a few years ago when — in my opinion — it was sounder. But we're not going back; we're going forward. It's hard for us to grasp it."

Privileges Taxes Uncertain While he pointed out that real estate is bearing more of a tax burden it should, the commissioner said real estate was still a good investment because it cannot be moved and because improved government services in a community are reflected in a higher valuation of real estate. Furthermore, he said, real estate is taxed locally only. However, he admitted that it had become necessary to seek additional revenue from sales taxes or taxes on privileges. Pointing out the flaws in the latter type of taxes, he predicted that the tax on pari-mutuel betting was unsound and would destroy itself.

He contended that the tax on cigarettes taxes one class of people only, although it is a good source of revenue; that the tax on liquor also taxes emotional desires, and that the revenue from the gasoline and meals taxes was relatively small. All of these taxes, he argued, are somewhat uncertain as to the future. "Looking at it from a point of view of continual source of revenue," said Mr. Long, "it is questionable whether it was sound for the State Legislature to go into the above sources for revenue."

Citing the gasoline tax as an example, Commissioner Long also criticized the earmarking of certain revenue for certain services as unsound, even though the majority of the voters favored this policy in the last election. "The Commonwealth might find that other things are for more necessary than highways," he said.

He also looked with suspicion on the tendency, on the part of many people, to seek aid for themselves from other sources, the towns looking to the state for aid and the state to the federal government. "The spirit of unrest is reflected in the groping for new forms of local government," he pointed out.

Warns of Danger Point Warning his listeners against the trend in spending, Mr. Long brought out that in 1948, the cities and towns of Massachusetts spent $345,000,000 just for their own needs. The year it will be 45 million more and in 1951 it will total $500,000,000. "Arlington," he said, "has been an outstanding community for many years. Its officials, with whom I have come in contact, have been of high character. I'd like to see it continue that way. But, the community should watch for the definite point beyond which its people cannot contribute to the cost of government. If you go beyond that point, there is a tendency to deterioration. Running a government on borrowed money is bad. You're going to be a good community only if you yourself put something into it. We've been running on an even keel for a long time; it may not always be thus. The wise town is one which looks to its finances."

"A few years ago the people voted for equal pay and shorter hours. It all adds to the cost of government. If new sources of taxes on privileges are suggested, don't be too harsh. They will be aimed at spreading the cost of government among more people and to encourage the proper development of already burdened real estate."

Scout Offices to Move Today From Arlington to Lexington

Plans have been completed according to Scout Executive Phil Johnson, for the moving today of the Sackem Council Headquarters from Arlington, where it has been located for many years, to Lexington, at 1557 Massachusetts ave.

Scouters and others have assisted in completing the many details at the new location. Among the many men contributing time, labor and material are Harry Barnes, one of the Council's oldest Scouters and Scoutmaster of Troop 15 in Belmont; Arthur Leiby, vice chairman of the Lexington-Bedford District; Lawrence Ormond, Scoutmaster in the Lexington district; Willis Munroe, camping chairman of the Arlington district, and Hollis MacDougall and a group of painters from Lexington. They have done a splendid job in redecorating the interior of the section of the Barnes property to be used by the Sackem Council office. In addition to the labor contribution by these many Scouters and friends of Scouting much in the line of materials have been contributed, including hardware, wire for inter-phone communications, rubber floor matting, paints and similar items. The net result has been a considerable saving of money and Mr. Johnson expressed his sincere appreciation to all who made this possible.

Sunshine Club

Mrs. Clarence E. Johnson opened her home for the first meeting of the Sunshine Club for the year 1949, with Mrs. A. J. King assisting.

Mrs. Richard E. Ambrose presided. Mrs. King reported 30 shut-ins had been remembered at Christmas, plants, candy, toys, handkerchiefs, money and cards being contributed. The Study Club and the Varis Club assisted. Following the business meeting, bridge was enjoyed and refreshments were served.

St. John's Church Elects Officers

St. John's Episcopal Church held its annual meeting Monday evening with Rev. Halsey I. Andrews, rector, presiding.

Rev. Mr. Andrews gave a resume of the work of the parish during the past year, and reports of the parish treasurer and of all organizations were presented to those present.

Following the business meeting, an entertainment and light refreshments were enjoyed.

The following officers of the parish were re-elected: Arthur O. Yeames, senior warden; J. Milton Washburn, Jr., junior warden; Chester J. Ginder, clerk; Edward A. Richards, treasurer; Mrs. Alanston D. Yeaton, assistant treasurer; Felix Cutler, auditor.

Robert H. Pike, Frank W. Sar-now and George P. Severance were elected vestrymen for three years. Other members of the vestry, whose terms expire in 1950 and 1951, are Richard Ambrose, Howard R. Ensor, William J. Flux, James Gould, Donald J. Millard and Ralph G. Benton.

Arthur O. Yeames, J. Milton Washburn, Jr., and Edward A. Richards were elected delegates to the diocesan convention and John H. Campbell was elected alternate delegate.

Floyd A. Zinck, Louis T. Phelps and Alanston D. Yeaton were elected delegates to the archdiocesan of Lowell.

Budget

cost of everything we buy and almost everything we do," he continued.

Many Taxes 'Hidden' "This is proven in the fact that well over one-third of Massachusetts' share will come from 'hidden' taxes. For example, there are federal taxes of seven cents on a pack of cigarettes, five cents per pound on auto tires, 13 cents per deck on playing cards, six cents a gallon on lubricating oil and scores of others. These taxes are collected at the factory but passed on to the consumer.

"Naturally we can't trim federal spending to a pre-war level but certainly, as the Hoover Commission has shown us already, there are many places where substantial sums can be saved. We should insist on the elimination of overlapping and duplicating federal agencies. We need to abolish obsolete and unnecessary federal bureaus and eliminate some of the less essential services.

"For instance, at the present time there are more than 2,000,000 federal employees. Estimates of excess or unnecessary employees by persons close to the government, range up to 500,000.

"The proposed budget can be cut appreciably but this will not happen unless a sufficient number of citizens demand it."

O'Neil Sparks

Arlington, 56-55

A well-coached Arlington Boys' Club senior basketball team eked out a 56-55 win over the previously undefeated Revere All Stars at Revere on Sunday afternoon when Bob O'Neill looped one of his hook shots from the right hand corner with only six seconds remaining.

The All Stars, with local college athletes in the lineup, held a commanding lead at the three-quarter mark. But the Arlington five fought back to tie the score and then go on to win. Outstanding for the locals were Hanlon and Keohane as individual high scorers and Bill Casey as bulwark on defense.

In the Arlington lineup were Keohane, Cooper, Stevens, Carty, Guarnota, O'Neill, Hanlon, Shea, Ling, Casey and Egan.

With The Kiwanians

He went back after the war and was forced to flee as the Communists took over. He spoke here through the courtesy of the Institute of World Affairs Association.

Military Rites Held for Lt. Malone, Air Force Flyer Killed in England

While flags on municipal buildings were lowered at half staff, a military funeral was held Wednesday morning for Second Lt. George T. Malone, Jr., 23, of the 9th U. S. Army Air Force, who was killed in action over England, June 21, 1944.

Lt. Malone was the son of Mr. and Mrs. George T. Malone of 40 Newcomb st. His body was returned to Arlington for final burial in Mt. Pleasant Cemetery.

A solemn high mass of requiem was celebrated at St. Agnes' Church.

Msgr. Matthew J. Flaherty celebrated the solemn high mass of requiem with Rev. Justin C. Durocher and Rev. Frank Chi Chmij assisting.

Military honors were accorded by Arlington post 1775, V.F.W., under the direction of Commander

Charles J. Sheehan. Officers from the Bedford Air Base served as pallbearers. At the cemetery, a firing squad from Fort Banks, Winthrop, fired a volley and "Taps" were sounded by a bugler in a final farewell to the heroic aviator.

Lt. Malone, attached to a fighter squadron, was awarded the Air Medal of Valor in May, 1944, about two months before he was killed. At that time he had flown 11 missions, escorting bombers. Born in Arlington, he was a graduate of Arlington High, where he starred in hockey and baseball, and was a senior at Boston College in the class of 1943 at the time he enlisted. He played on the hockey team at B. C. Besides his parents, he leaves two brothers, Robert Malone and James Malone.

TIMELY ADVICE TO AUTOISTS

In anticipation of bad driving weather this month and in February, Chief Archie F. Bullock of the Arlington Police Department has listed seven driving rules "to be digested by motorists" to prevent unnecessary accidents.

The rules are:

1. Get the "feel" of the road condition when starting out by trying your brakes gently when no other vehicles are near.
2. Adjust speed of vehicle to weather and road conditions. Be especially careful at school zones, intersections, crossings, curves and bridges.
3. For severe snow and ice conditions, use tire chains. Steel tire chains not only provide "go" traction, but also stopping distances of cars and trucks 40 to 70 percent on snow and ice.
4. Be sure windshield wipers and defrosters are working properly.
5. Have your brakes equalized. Brakes that are not well grab and swerve your car more easily on snow and ice.
6. Be sure your lights are properly aimed. Never drive so fast that you can't stop within the distance you can see.
7. Never stomp on brakes to stop on ice. Stomping brakes causes them to lock, which may throw a car into a skid. Remember that good tire treads help on wet or dry pavement, but cannot be relied upon for stopping on packed snow or ice. Nor will "rubber chains" help on ice. Tests have proved rubber chains actually increase braking distance on ice.

In listing the rules, Chief Bullock said that January and February are the worst months for severe weather and road conditions. "A recent report by the National Safety Council," Chief Bullock adds, "shows that 65 percent of all winter traffic accidents in several snow-belt states happened on ice and snow. The principal causes were lack of traction and poor visibility. So, if our drivers will just be a little more thoughtful and observe these seven driving rules, we'll have less accidents and fewer people going to the hospital."

We believe Chief Bullock's driving rules should be taken seriously.

General Operating Expenses

The electrical industry is a large purchaser of supplies, including millions of miles of copper wire, millions of poles, arms, and insulators, thousands of trucks, as well as great quantities of coal, oil and natural gas. Although there may be some further price increases on some of these products, yet the corner has turned downward on the average. This should benefit the utilities so long as we avoid war with Russia or the Chinese Communists.

The only "nigger in the woodpile" is the attitude of utility commissions regarding rates. Many utility companies are in need of higher rates, especially street railway and bus companies which have large labor expense. As, however, these rate-making bodies clearly understand that to take care of their customers the utilities must have more capital, and in order to raise more capital must give investors a reasonable dividend, they should gladly grant these needed rate increases.

Utilities As Inflation Hedges

Utilities of operating companies can be recommended for safety and for income, but they should not be selected as hedges against inflation. If considering only the cost of replacement, stocks of utility operating companies should be worth double what they were ten years ago provided they cannot be caught by the "Depreciation Formula." The fact, however, that utilities are not free to raise their rates without special permission, is a distinct handicap. Hence, for inflation hedges it is better to buy steel, oil or merchandising stocks. A live merchant can always keep one jump ahead of inflation.

It is wise to confine one's purchase of electric company stocks to the territory in which you live. You, yourself, should know the attitude of your public authorities on this rate-making problem; it is reflected by your local newspapers. If you believe that your public service commission is fair, then buy the stock of the company supplying your home with electricity; but not otherwise.

Of course, you should not put all of your eggs in any one basket, however good that basket may be. This means that one should not have more than 20% of his funds in public utilities, and not more than 5% in any one company. An investor should have his funds divided amongst different industries, different companies and different sections. As a final thought, I urge you to avoid utilities in big cities that might be bombed in case of World War III.

Lutheran Rally Set for Sunday

A Missions Advance rally will be held at the Trinity Lutheran Church, Park ave. (near Davis square), Somerville, on Sunday evening, Jan. 16, at 8:00 p.m. The Lutheran churches of Greater Boston are participating. Dr. S. E. Engstrom, executive director of Home Missions, and director of Lutheran World Action for the Augustana Lutheran Church, will deliver the address. Dr. Engstrom visited Finland and Germany during the past summer as commissioner to Finland for the National Lutheran Council. He is coming to Boston directly from the annual meeting of the Home Missions Council of North America, at Buck Hill Falls, Pa.

Brackett P. T. A.

The Brackett School P.T.A. met Tuesday evening with a large attendance.

Highlight of the evening's program was a round table discussion of teaching methods employed in reading. With Lawrence J. Mantyla, Brackett School principal, acting as chairman, the Misses Ethel E. Mellin, Ruth L. MacEwen, Marie Mullen, Elizabeth Starr, Grace Callahan and Ruby M. Wilkens gave a well rounded description of the methods employed in teaching the subject in all grades of the school.

In his opening remarks Mr. Mantyla stressed the importance of learning to read properly. Many students, he said, reach junior high and high school without a good grounding in the subject. As a consequence they find it difficult to easily grasp advanced subjects. He also threw some light on the strides that have been taken in the field of education in this country when he disclosed that in 1902 only 10% of those entering the first grade survived the rigors of learning to enter high school. Today, he said, 70% survive to enter high school.

Mrs. Schreier presided at the meeting and in closing announced that the next meeting will be held on Feb. 8 when Francis J. Thompson, chairman of the Hingham School Committee, will talk on "The Qualifications of a Good School Committeeman." Candidates for the local School Committee will be presented to the group at that time and will be given an opportunity to state their own qualifications for election to the board.

This meeting is open to any man who cares to attend at 7:30. The Evening Alliance of the First Parish will hold a guest night next Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock. Mrs. Grace B. Mitchell will speak on "Pitfalls to Permenants."

Refreshments will be served. Rev. John Nicol Mark spoke at the Cushing Academy vesper service last Sunday.

The NEWS OBSERVES

Massachusetts "closed the year 1948 with the best motor vehicle highway traffic safety record in the history of the Commonwealth," a tabulation of the 32-year record of motor vehicle registrations, licenses and deaths shows. It reveals that during the past year "only" 437 persons were killed by autos on Massachusetts highways, the lowest number since 1917. . . . It's somewhat impressive in view of the fact that 1,285,000 were registered in this state in 1948, compared with only 185,339 in 1917 when 438 auto fatalities were recorded. . . . Worst year since 1917 was in 1934 with 983 killed. . . . Last year's low of 437 is still had enough; it means that, on an average, at least one person is killed by an automobile in this State every day. . . . More cars are now on the road than ever; let's try to cut down needless motor vehicle fatalities.

Speaking of auto accidents, Arlington started off the New Year very well. . . . No accidents of any kind were reported to local police between Jan. 3 and Jan. 10.

The one session plan for Arlington schools is not a cure-all, one gathered from the discussion at a PTA meeting this week. The new setup has its problems, and we believe it is up to the principals, teachers, parents and the children themselves to do everything possible to see that it works smoothly, at least during the trial period.

The First Baptist Men's Class enthusiastically serenaded John E. Mansfield on the occasion of his birthday last Tuesday night at a dinner meeting in the church. Said the master of ceremonies, "Like Jack Benny, John is in his late 30's." The popular member of the class took the ribbing good-naturedly.

Candidates for major town offices have until Jan. 31 to file their nomination papers with the registrars of voters. After that they are given until Feb. 8 to withdraw their names. Otherwise, if the necessary number of signatures are certified, the candidate's name automatically goes on the ballot.

It's an old political trick to announce one's candidacy and even go so far as to file papers, and then to withdraw. Quite often, such cases arouse suspicion of some deal in the background. . . . So, we're naive enough to suggest that only those candidates who are really serious should take out papers and file them, for the best interest of the town.

We have reason to suspect, also, that in some past town elections weak candidates — who themselves felt they had no chance of winning — were put in the fight by some interested third party to weaken an otherwise strong candidate. Will history repeat itself? Let's not kid the voters.

A complete Nurse's Aide training course, which is preparation for any illness or accident that may occur, will be given without charge to any Arlington woman who in turn will plan to spend four hours a week during the next year as a Red Cross hospital volunteer, Miss Dorothy Bartol, chairman of the Nurse's Aide service of the Boston Metropolitan Chapter, announced to day. . . . A course for evening aides will start Monday, Jan. 24, and women who fill important day-time positions

Woman's Club Hears Minister

Members of the Arlington Woman's Club, at their first meeting of the year, presided over by Mrs. Arthur J. Mansfield, received both inspirational and spiritual knowledge from the excellent talk presented by Rev. John Nicol Mark, Arlington clergyman.

Mr. Mark cited experts from his recent trip to Europe, and said, "How fortunate we are to be living in America, and how appreciative we should be. We should have time to count blessings and faith will inspire us on the journey of life."

Mrs. Nathan Wood paid tribute to the memory of Mrs. Warren A. Peirce, late member of the club.

Mrs. Elmer Barber passed on to the members, highlights of the January meeting of the Club Institute.

Mrs. C. Rodney Sage introduced Mrs. Robert McCloskey, contralto, accompanied by Eliza Lopez, who delighted the audience with several selections in French and German.

—An alarm was sounded Friday noon for a defective heater in the two-family house at 119 Lake St. The dwelling is occupied by Harold Jenkinson, owner, and Foster Burton.

Card of Thanks

The Family of the late Mrs. Charles Cummings take this opportunity to thank all friends for sympathy and kindnesses offered during their recent bereavement. We also wish to thank the Arlington and Lexington Police for their escort.

 2 cups water to cover
 4 tbsp. butter
 1 clove garlic
 1 large onion
 4 tbsp. flour
 1 tsp. curry powder
 1/4 cup chopped celery
 1 medium apple, diced
 4 cups cooked rice
 Cover lamb with water and simmer until tender, about 1 hour. When cool, cut into small cubes, removing all fat. Add meat, broth and enough water to make soup. Cook slowly until meat is tender, about 3 1/2 hours. Cover and simmer gently until meat is tender, about 3 1/2 hours. Add water, a little at a time. When ready to serve, make gravy by thickening liquid with flour blended with a little water (1 tbsp. flour to each 1 cup of liquid). Arrange meat on platter with whole onions, carrots and potatoes. Garnish with parsley. Serves 8 to 10.

 Parsley garnish
 Rub the meat thoroughly with a bruised clove of garlic. Add salt melted in a heavy kettle with a high-fitting lid. Add water, Worcestershire sauce and chili sauce. Cover and simmer gently until meat is tender, about 3 1/2 hours. Turn the pot roast occasionally. Add more water, if necessary, a little at a time. When ready to serve, make gravy by thickening liquid with flour blended with a little water (1 tbsp. flour to each 1 cup of liquid). Arrange meat on platter with whole onions, carrots and potatoes. Garnish with parsley. Serves 8 to 10.

New A & P Super. Market to Replace Mystic St. Building Now Being Razed

The Old Clarke stable at 30 Mystic st., next to the Peirce & Winn property which has been acquired by the town for parking purposes, is being razed to make way for a modern super market.

The Clarke property has been acquired by the A & P Food Stores with the intention of building a modern market of brick construction. The old wooden building is being torn down by the Central Building Wrecking Company of Everett. In recent years, the property was used for the storage and sale of used furniture and antiques and still more recently as a furniture salesroom.

Firemen Called Out On 3 Needless Runs

Arlington firemen responded to two false alarms Monday night. The first was the result of a practical joker who telephoned the firemen that there was a fire at a house on Peter Tufts road.

Earlier in the evening, a citizen telephoned the fire department for a supposed fire at a Summer st. restaurant. It turned out to be simply the glare from an oven.

Another false alarm was sounded early Friday morning after someone telephoned firemen that there was a fire at 1326 Massachusetts ave., Arlington Heights.

Authorities learned that the call had been made from outside of Arlington.

MANY ENJOY GOSPEL SING

Tite-On Shingles Reduce Storm, Hurricane Loss

Every year severe seasonal storms cause a mounting toll of damage in this section of the country. Part of this, and the tremendous loss of time and material it entails, cannot be prevented.

On the other hand, proper precaution, repairs made in time, and the selection of suitable materials, can cut this yearly bill.

According to P. P. Martyn, manager of the First National Construction Co., of 342 Massachusetts ave., special material have been developed with this problem in mind. Outstanding are Tite-On Shingles, a product of The Rubenoid Co., which deserve their name, for they are really windproof and weatherproof. Made according to a patented design, they combine a clever system of interlocking and concealed nailing, which makes a Tite-On roof practically "one-piece." Once applied, they simply cannot come loose or blow up.

The 1944 hurricane, which struck the east coast with 90 mile velocity, was a real test of Tite-On. Testimonials from sections where large fires were felled and many roofs blew off, report that these unique shingles stayed put. Not one owner reported damage to a Tite-On roof.

In addition, these asphalt shingles are tops in appearance, made in interesting colors and textures. Fire-resistant, too, as attested by the fact that they are approved by the Board of Fire Underwriters.

B. C. Football Coach Sports Night Speaker

Coach Denny Meyers will attend the Immaculate Conception Holy Name sports night, to be held next Thursday at 8 p. m. at the Fr. Matignon High School. Members have been invited to fill March of Dimes folders with dimes and present these for admission to tonight's affair. Members and their guests will wear appropriate costumes for the barn dance and a hill-billy band will provide music.

Clarence H. Marsh of the Auxiliary Police and treasurer of the March of Dimes drive in Arlington is in charge of arrangements.

Assisting Mr. Marsh on the committee are: Jack Keefe, Vernon Thompson, Jack Toomey, Bob Grannan, Arthur O'Brien, Harry Proudfoot, Walter Finlay, Arthur Kimball, Jack Podgurski, Jim Forsythe, John Roche, Jr., Frank Doran and Jim Puffer.

March of Dimes

before have the National Foundation and its chapters been called upon to render such extensive aid to stricken communities in every part of the nation. The challenge was met, but emergency aid funds were completely exhausted. We must now replenish those funds and prepare for new epidemics this year.

Although the drive in Arlington is conducted by the Arlington Auxiliary Police, the March of Dimes campaign is the hands of school children. Coin boxes will also be found at strategic locations.

Special events will be held to help boost Arlington's showing. Tonight, a March of Dimes dance is scheduled at the Robbins Town Hall for members of the AYA and their guests.

Next Wednesday night, a polo benefit performance will be held at the Robbins Town Hall under the sponsorship of the Crosby PTA. Bill Cunningham and Marjorie Mills will be the principal speakers. Music will be provided by the Arlington High School orchestra and soloists.

Mr. Sinclair listed two primary reasons for full community support of the March of Dimes campaign. They are the ever present threat of a local infantile paralysis epidemic, such as last year's epidemic in North Carolina and California, and the high cost of treatment and after-care of those stricken.

Catholic Woman's Club Charity Party Set for January 22

Miniature pink crepe paper watering cans surrounded a large one in the center of the table and were filled with nuts and served as favors. Fancy sandwiches and cookies were served with tea and coffee.

Among those present were: Mrs. Clyde Hagar and Mrs. DeBlosis Gillis of Somerville, Mrs. George Webster, Mrs. A. B. Whyngaught and Mrs. Frank Hart of Arlington, Mrs. Wallace Raymond and Miss Myrtle Raymond of Beverly, Miss Verna Roberts, Miss Rita Roberts, Miss Muriel Goodwin and Mrs. Carl Fitzgerald of Everett, Mrs. Esther Chapman and Mrs. John Green of Watertown, Mrs. C. Rotarians Urged to Support New Highway Legislation

Representatives of the Greater Boston Development Committee and the state-wide Commonwealth Development Committee have called upon the Arlington Rotary Club to take an active part in securing passage of legislation during the present session of the General Court to provide better highways for Massachusetts.

The speakers were introduced by former Representative William T. Ring at last Wednesday's meeting of Rotary.

William A. Beale, administrative secretary of the Greater Boston Development Committee, emphasized that the apathy of the motorist public has been directly responsible for the Legislature's failure to enact remedial highway legislation.

"Every member of this club," he said, "should contact his legislator and make known in no uncertain terms his demand for legislation which will give Massachusetts a modern highway system."

Francis B. Richardson, executive vice-chairman of the Commonwealth Development Committee, described how his state-wide organization and the Greater Boston Development Committee were working together to secure adoption of a highway program.

"Everyone in this room is well aware of the deplorable condition of our highways," Richardson said. "There was a time—unfortunately long past—when the great Commonwealth of Massachusetts led the nation in highway construction. From 1894 to 1935, this state built or rebuilt an average of 103.6 miles of roads each year. But from 1935 to 1945, we constructed or reconstructed only an average of 25 miles each year, and seven of these years were in the pre-war era. In fact, today Massachusetts is regarded by the federal government as one of the most lagging states in the Nation in taking advantage of federal funds for highway construction."

Richardson continued: "The safety factor to be gained from construction of modern highways is obvious to anyone who has taken the time to study this question. Do you realize that during the first eight months of last year, there were over one million cars and trucks that used the new scientifically designed Maine Turnpike, which is 47 miles long? These vehicles traveled on the Maine Turnpike at a sustained rate of slightly under 60 miles per hour. There was not a single fatal accident and only 18 personal injury accidents on this up-to-date expressway in our neighboring state of Maine."

"What is the situation on principal routes in Massachusetts? We people of Massachusetts often look upon the Worcester Turnpike as a well-constructed, modern divided highway. It just isn't. The Worcester Turnpike is 30% less in mileage than the Maine Turnpike, yet there were 1,700% more personal injury accidents on it during the first eight months of 1948 than on the Maine Turnpike. There was a personal injury accident on approximately every 570 feet of the Worcester Turnpike throughout its entire length."

"The cost of maintaining our broken-down highways is also a tremendous economic factor. It is like pouring new wine into old bottles. It is not an efficient use of the people's money. New highways are costly but not nearly so extravagant as constant maintenance of worn-out roads."

MRS. LYDECKER HOSTESS
A bridge party will be held at Hotel Puritan next Wednesday at 2 p. m. under the supervision of Mrs. Henry H. Lydecker, board member of the Philomathean Club. Numerous prizes have been secured by an active committee which includes Mrs. William Flynn of Ronald road.

Higgins to Seek Town Clerk Post

Francis J. Higgins, school committee member, this week formally announced his candidacy for town clerk, the office left vacant by the death of Earl A. Ryder.

Mr. Higgins is married and the father of four children, three of whom attend Arlington schools. He lives at 86 Marathon st. He received his education at Vennard Preparatory School and Vennard College in Clarkson, Pa., and attended Boston University and Harvard School of Business Administration, as well as Suffolk Law School.

He was engaged as an industrial specialist for the War Department for five years and served as head of a records department in Ordnance. He is an insurance counselor.

He is a town meeting member, director of the Monica Cotter Fund and a director of the Citizens' Committee. He has been active in PTA groups, athletic, civic, fraternal and patriotic associations in Arlington.
